Course Description

This introduction to DIR®/Floortime will describe the six functional emotional developmental milestones, and the overall DIR® framework. This approach, first described by Dr. Stanley Greenspan, is now widely used to understand behavior and support development in children of all ages and abilities. Floortime strategies will be presented through video examples.

Course Objectives

- Describe the three components of the DIR (Developmental, Individual Difference, Relationship-based) approach and how they interact
- Describe the six Functional Emotional Developmental milestones and corresponding strategies for each
- Identify the unique goals of using the DIR/Floortime approach for a child with special needs
